

Bob Walle

25 years old, lives with his own studio. He has three cats, Felicity, Alber, Felix. He works a 9 - 5 job at the office and buses home. When he gets home, he likes to play games on his phone with in company of his cats. He loves watching a TV show called Bojack Horseman and often watches cartoons like Rick and Morty.

His mother will come once a week and helps him clean the house and cooks a meal for him. He is lonely at his single person studio even though his cats are around. So he is very willing to make friends both in real life and the Internet. He tries to meet new people by going out for walks and has joined the animation club where he could hang out with people who share the same interest. During the weekends, he also plays games like League of legends. He wants to have meetups with his teammates if possible.

Robert King

23 years old lives at home with his family, has a job at a comic book store, and attends college studying international culture. He is pursuing a major in International culture and a minor in Japanese literature. He plans to become an international ambassador for Canada for Japanese Canadian relations.

In his free time, he likes to hang out with his best friend, Chunp Saitama. They both enjoy discussing the latest releases of their favorite shows and manga. He watches long running shows like one piece, but is sad that much of the fanbase is scattered across many different platforms like Facebook and Reddit, and thus discussions arent as active as they could be. He would love to meet new fans with similar interests, and to be able to organize meetups with those people.

John Deere

Already 32 years old. He has a boring life due to his goal of making money. He wants nothing more than getting a job. He graduated from Cambridge University with a high mark after working hard during his school life. He put all attention to his studies and his life was full of obtaining knowledge. When he finished his studies, he was invited to a large company and got a high-paying but busy job.

His everyday life was exactly the same, just go for work in the morning, eat out, go back to sleep at night without any exciting things. He is content with his current lifestyle but feels he wants more. And now he wants to break through the situation and find some hobbies so that he is able to get rid of his job for a while.